Q.1. Read the passage given below and answer the following questions:

The invention of the internet has transformed the world in remarkable ways. It has not only changed how people communicate but also how they work, learn, and entertain themselves. In the past, sending a letter across the globe would take weeks; today, an email reaches its destination in seconds. Similarly, education has become more accessible, with online courses and digital libraries offering students vast resources at their fingertips.

However, the internet is a double-edged sword. While it provides knowledge and opportunities, it also comes with challenges like misinformation, cyberbullying, and addiction. Many young people spend excessive time on social media, which affects their studies, physical health, and real-life relationships. Thus, responsible use of the internet is essential. Parents, teachers, and society must guide children to balance screen time with real-world interactions, sports, and hobbies.

In conclusion, the internet is one of the greatest inventions of the modern age, but its impact depends on how wisely we use it. It can be a powerful tool for progress or a source of problems if misused.
