Q.1. Read the following passages carefully and answer the questions that follow.

Like watering a tree, we grow our friendships by nurturing them. Friendships need the same attention as any other relationship if they are to continue. These relationships can be supportive, understanding, and fun.

Sometimes a friendship can bring out positive qualities that you may not see in other relationships. With a friend, you are free to be yourself. Friends listen to each other and help each other grow and change.

Friendship is often an unconditional experience where you get as much as you give. You can openly share your feelings with a friend without fear. By showing empathy and seeing the world through your friend's eyes, you learn the value of friendship.

Friendship teaches us to accept people from different families and cultural backgrounds. In this way, we learn tolerance, acceptance, and respect for others.
